Ponferrada - Santiago

There is a spanish website about this route: (www.camino de invierno.com) with maps, heigth profiles and elaborate descriptions od each etape; in Spanish;

Ponferrada - Lalín(A Laxe)

See for Lalín(A Laxe) - Santiago: route 46

The camino de Invierno can be an alternative for the busy last part of the Camino Frances.

It's name (invierno = winter) comes from the fact that in winter the circumstances on the heigh pass at Cebrero can be rather bad in winter. Than this somewhat lower route can be an alternative.

46. Vía de la Plata / Mozarabischer Jakobsweg; in German; Raimund Joos en Michael Kasper; Conrad Stein Verlag; Sevilla - Granja de Moreruela - Astorga en Granja de Moreruela - Ourense - Santiago

Vía de la Plata; Jakobsweg von Sevilla nach Santiago de Compostela; in German Cordula Rabe; Bergverlag Rother; ISBN 978-3-7633-4333-1; 2nd edition 2011; Sevilla - Riego del Camino - Ourense - Sea - Santiago en Riego del Camino - Astorga - Santiago - Finisterre - Muxia

This of coarse is not a route from the Netherlands or Flanders to Santiago.

I mention it here because you can use it to avoid the busy last part of the Camino Frances: Take from Astorga the Eastern branche against the intended direction to Granja de Moreruela and then take the Western branche to Santiago.

47. Camino Finisterre

A pilgrim's guide to the Camino Finisterre; bilingual English/Spanish; John Brierley; Findhorn press; A Practical & Mystical Manual for the Modern Day Pilgrim; ISBN 978-1-84409-590-2; edition 2013.
